Sierra Madre Team to Play Twilight Ball

First Game With Monrovia Gas Company Team
June 19

Many Stars Find Way Into Lineup of Local Entry In League

With the announcement that Sierra Madre is to have a team in the Monrovia Twilight League, interest in baseball is expected to take a decided jump in this city. C. B. Scott of the Southern Counties Gas company, has been for the past three years one of the directors of the Monrovia League and consequently he experienced no difficulty in securing a place in the league schedule for a local aggregation of sphere manipulators. The first game in which the local team will take part is scheduled for June 19, when Sierra Madre will tangle with the fast Gas Company team, at Monrovia. The "Gassers" are credited with a superb lineup and are confidently expecting to "wipe the noses" of the locals without much effort.

However, that gives rise to something else again, for Sierra Madre has succeeded in taking the wraps off a large number of likely-looking prospects, and with a little team work and practice they will be able to withstand a few assaults without running for cover.

The line-up at present consists of Coleman, former football star and life guard, catcher; Jack Kennedy, former hurler for Manual Arts high school and a side-wheeler of note, pitcher; Waverly Pratt, tall enough and fast enough to pick off the wild dasies that bloom around the initial sack, first base; A. Nicholson, formerly of Kansas University, second base; "Buster" Brain, who gained fame on the Pasadena high school diamond, third; Leo and Emil, the Smith Brothers, shortstops; Davis, of the Sierra Madre Lumber Company; Spears and McBurney, also of Pasadena Hi) in the field.

These men have been selected as the leading exponents of the soft ball in this bailiwick and will be assisted by a selected corps of substitutes.

At a meeting Friday night, the locals organized with C. B. Scott, president and manager; Emil Smith, secretary; Fred Griebeinow, treasurer. The same rules and by-laws will be used as those governing the Monrovia league.

The work of grading the ball grounds at the school house has been going on, and when the grading has been completed a steam roller will be used to put the lot in perfect condition.

Wednesdays and Fridays have been designated as the days for base ball activity in "The Queen of the Suburbs," and in addition to some snappy games reeled off by the home talent, teams from Arcadia and Monrovia will be invited to come up and show their select functions.

Five teams will be organized in this city. The Kiwanis team will be under the captaincy of Waverly Pratt; Frank Lovell will captain the Firemen; Henry Olsen, the Legion; George McRoberts, Sierra Madre Business Men, and Fred Griebeinow will lead a team to be organized among the members of the various churches of the city.

The Monrovia Twilight league is composed of the following teams: Gas Company, Bakers, Civic Center, DeMolay, Presbyterians and Sierra Madre. A notable array of pitchers is presented by the various teams, the list, respectively, being as follows: C. Hancock, M. Wright, D. Morrill, B. Stevens, E. Dufton and J. Kennedy. Each of the sextette has made a reputation, and some interesting duels will be witnessed during the league season.

Sierra Madre will play the following schedule during the summer: June 19, Gas Company; June 28, Baker Drug; July 6, Civic Center; July 10, DeMolay; July 20, DeMolay; July 24, Gas Company; August 7, Presbyterians; August 17, Presbyterians; August 24, Baker Drug; August 30, Civic Center.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson were luncheon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Morgridge on Thursday. Dr. Henderson is pastor of the Congregational Church in Leavenworth, Kansas, and is enjoying a motor trip through the southwest while on a month's leave of absence.

'WANT' ADVERTISING GETS QUICK RESULTS AND PLENTY ACTION

Last week, "Fire Flames," written by "One of the Boys," complained at the dearth of fires. That night he got his "wish," and for good measure, another on Wednesday night. That is just a fairly good example of the quick results attained by users of the space in the News.

In this connection, remember that fires usually come in "threes." If the rule holds good this time, another conflagration is due soon, and wise readers will immediately get in touch with one of the insurance agents who advertises his wares in the News and buy a policy to cover possible losses.

Full Quota Of Garments To Be Made

Red Cross Production Committee Plans to Parcel Out Sewing

The production committee of the Sierra Madre chapter, American Red Cross will meet at the Woman's Club house Monday, June 4, at 10 a. m., to prepare materials for sewing. Will each woman who is interested in this work and finds it possible to make one or more of the children's dresses either come to the club house after 12 o'clock or phone their willingness to assist in getting out the quota? The chairman will get materials to them to finish at home.

The production committee will also work at the club house on Wednesday June 6, from 10 a. m. They will bring their own sandwiches. All who wish to join in this service are cordially invited to come to the club house any time from 10 to 4, giving as much time as they can.

The committee includes Miss Lydia Webster, Mrs. Grace King, Mrs. R. M. Finlayson, Mrs. Fred Griebeinow, Mrs. M. D. Welsher, Mrs. Hortense Hill, Mrs. H. W. Glidden, Miss Catherine Ferris and Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, chairman.

Prince Gets Novel Taste Of Romance

When reading the play, "Just Suppose," the current Pasadena Community Playhouse attraction, May 29 to June 9, one can see the author, A. E. Thomas as a newspaperman speculating over the visit of some royal personage to this country, and noting the efforts of society flappers to be included in the select functions held in his honor.

In "Just Suppose," Thomas has built a fanciful tale that just sparkles with fun and intriguing situations. The prince does come to America. He evades Washington society and diplomacy; he comes by accident up the "superwoman," they fall in love—they do not get married and live happily ever after. The girl knows who the prince is before he had to break the news, a diplomatic graybeard intrudes into the picture, and the way the story works out is interesting. The situations are delicate, the humor subtle.

Albert H. Snyder Called to Rest

Albert H. Snyder, 32 years of age, passed away on Tuesday after a long period of ill health. He was the proprietor of an avocado market on Foothill Boulevard and had resided on Sturtevant Drive the past three years, forming many warm friendships. In addition to his wife, Mrs. Anna Snyder, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Snyder of Topeka, Kansas. The body was taken to the Ray A. Grant undertaking establishment to be prepared for shipment to Topeka, where funeral services and interment will take place. Both the bereaved wife and mother left on Tuesday, accompanying the body to the old home.

D. and J. Buchan established something of record when they started work on a cement walk on the Central Avenue front of the new Congregational Church at noon and had the job completed about the time the dinner horn was sounding.

Fund Benefit Program Is Fine Effort

League of Youth Presents Splendid Concert as Fund Benefit

Famous Indian Chief Sings Way Into Hearts of Audience

The League of Youth of the Congregational Church established a real precedent so far as sustained high quality is concerned, in the program presented under their auspices Tuesday night in the Social Hall of the Congregational Church.

The program opened with the rendition of "Beauteous Morn," German, and "The Moths," Paliacat, by the Girls' Glee Club of the Pasadena Junior College. Seldom is it possible to find an assemblage of young voices that blend so harmoniously, and under the capable leadership of Allen Ray Carpenter the numbers were of exquisite quality.

Elizabeth Morgridge, violinist, splendidly upheld the reputation she is gaining in musical circles in Southern California. In the difficult 9th Concerto, by De Bériot, a number seldom attempted by even advanced adult violinists, the little miss displayed a confidence and technique little short of marvelous. An insistent demand brought "Spanish Dance" by Rehfeld as an equally enjoyable encore. Mrs. George B. Morgridge played the accompaniments.

Mary Novis and Francis Bull, two well known young Pasadena vocalists, pleased with "At Dewey Morn," Wilson, and "Parting," by Rogers.

Chief Yowlache, scion of a noble and ancient race, the "first" Americans, displayed superior capabilities as a baritone soloist. His voice is flexible and beautifully adapted to the classics as well as to the songs of his people, which, of course, are also of the classics. In Scarlatti's "Lungi dal Carbone," his voice answered every requirement, to the evident satisfaction of all his hearers. The Hopi love song and the "Ghost Song" his splendid personality, handsome costume and the romantic music constituted elements that made for entertainment quite above the ordinary type.

Raymond Kendall of Pasadena, proved more than equal to the demands upon his talents as soloist and accompanist. Chopin's "Polonaise" proved a vehicle to spontaneous applause and he was forced to respond to an encore.

"The Peace Pipe," is the tale taken from Longfellow's immortal "Hiawatha," depicting the manner in which the Great Spirit of the Indians won their hearts and caused them to wash off the war paint and bury the hatchets. In this delightful cantata Mr. Carpenter displayed to the full the rare qualities that have won him wide recognition as a choral director. Responsible for interpretation, attack and, above all, harmony, he has brought his chorus to a point where nothing else can be desired in a musical way.

The costuming was in the Indian style and added to the pleasing rendition of the cantata. Chief Yowlache, towering above his young college friends in full Indian regalia, including a magnificent war bonnet of eagle feathers, helped again to give the program a touch that raised it much above the average in entertainment value.

The League of Youth, especially Miss Muriel Tarr, a member of the chorus and in charge of the arrangements, is deserving of much credit for a most enjoyable program, and future entertainments by the group, will be eagerly welcomed.

City Hall Force Are Taking Turns With Ill Health

City Clerk Louis Dietz has been confined to his home this week suffering severely from digestive disorders which seem to affect the heart. He has been working under a handicap for some time and is now under the necessity of taking as complete a rest as possible.

Police Chief Keegan is on the job again after being confined to his home by illness for some time. Both the bereaved wife and mother left on Tuesday, accompanying the body to the old home.

Hold First Service In New Church

Large Number of New Members Will Be Received On Sunday

First services in the auditorium of the new Congregational Church will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At that service the pastor, Rev. A. O. Pritchard, will preach, a large group of persons will be received into the membership of the church and the communion sacrament will be administered.

The two weeks following will be full of interest with a series of events leading up to the dedication of the complete building. Children's day exercises will be held in the church on Sunday, June 10. Dedication will take place on Sunday, June 17. The dedication sermon will be preached by Dr. Henry Kendall Booth of Long Beach, and at a community service in the afternoon the speakers will include Dr. Daniel F. Fox of Pasadena, Dr. Perry Shrock of Santa Ana and Mayor W. F. Thayer, Jr. A public reception and other entertainment events will be held.

Rapid progress toward completion of the building has been made during the past week. The pews have been placed in position, electric lighting fixtures have been hung, carpet and linoleum men have been at work and the art glass for practically all the windows is promised. The building will thus be practically complete next Sunday morning, with only a few finishing touches remaining to be done.

N. W. Tarr Heads Committee of Taxpayers' Association

Church of Burbank, J. B. McBratney of Monrovia and J. L. Steinberger of Inglewood.

Passes Away Here After Long Illness

Mrs. Mary E. Hoffman who has resided at 33 North Mountain Trail Avenue for several years, passed away on Saturday, May 26, at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Los Angeles, after a long illness. The remains were sent to Savannah, Ga., where her husband was buried more than twenty years ago.

Throughout her long illness, Mrs. Hoffman was patient and uncomplaining and many friends here mourn her death.

Memory of Patriots Is Kept Fresh

Exercises Appropriate to Memorial Day Carried Out by Post

Lessons of Soldier Dead and Patriots Now Living Pointed Out

Memorial Day in Sierra Madre was fittingly observed with exercises arranged by Sierra Madre Post of the American Legion. The exercises began at the Sierra Madre cemetery when the graves of the soldiers of all wars who had gone to their reward were decorated with bouquets and flags. The Legion ritual was used, with firing squad and the sounding of taps.

Under the good offices of the Legion in raising funds and directing the cleanup work, the cemetery was in better condition than ever before. Dr. C. N. Barker was in charge of this work and its success was the occasion of many complimentary remarks.

Memorial exercises in the city park took place at 10 o'clock. Commander Robert E. Steinberger was in charge. Rev. W. D. Ogg pronounced the invocation and benediction in impressive manner. School children in charge of Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal, and directed by Miss Mary Pfahler, sang several patriotic selections with good effect. Mrs. R. M. Finlayson was at the piano.

Owing to the non-arrival of the announced speaker, it seemed for a time that the program would necessarily be cut short. However, two brief addresses by local citizens, given on a few minutes notice, maintained a standard of quality which would have been difficult to excel.

Comrade F. B. Seeley, a veteran of the Civil War, well past 80 years, delivered a patriotic exhortation which was a real gem. Although brief, its well rounded periods and clear, vigorous tone were a real delight.

Rev. A. O. Pritchard was then called upon and spoke more at length upon various phases of the memorial occasion. With full tribute of respect to the memory of those who gave their lives in the various wars, he also recognized the value of services rendered by the soldiers who remain.

He then made a plea for recognition of the patriotism of all those who by their services build something of stability and worth into the government of the nation and the life of its people.

The exercises in the park were largely attended. Seats arranged in the Hermosa Avenue approach to the Park House afforded a beautiful setting for the occasion.

Moerdyke Will Address Lodge Tuesday Night

Attorney N. P. Moerdyke of Pasadena will address the members of Sierra Madre Lodge No. 408, F. and A. M., at the stated meeting next Tuesday night. Mr. Moerdyke is an officer of San Pasqual Lodge, a member of the Pasadena board of education, and stands high in his profession. He is a forceful speaker and has a delightful personality, so that all who have the opportunity of hearing him will be well rewarded.

The lodge meeting will convene at the regular hour of 7:30, according to announcement of C. L. Twycross, master. The business meeting will be short, and after Mr. Moerdyke's address refreshments will be served in the banquet hall.

Miss Mildred Auer is hostess to a group of sorority sisters who came out from Los Angeles last night to remain over for a mountain hike today. All are members of Sigma Alpha Iota national music sorority, at the University of Southern California. The party includes Misses Nellie Winslow, Catherine Nason, Emily Korstad, Opal Polson and Winifred Heming. The affair is in honor of Miss Winslow who is leaving soon for New York to enter Columbia University.

BOYS WARNED AGAINST KILLING BIRDS WITH GUNS OR SLINGSHOTS

A circular sent to Sunday school superintendents, heads of boys' organizations and to the schools warns boys that it is unlawful to kill or maim song birds.

Reports have been sent to Humane Headquarters from all sections of Southern California of the activities of boys with guns and slingshots and the authorities are to take immediate steps to see that laws bearing on the killing of our feathered friends are enforced.

Copies of the circular will be sent to Boy Scout divisions to cooperate with the police officers in seeing that laws against the killing of birds and use of firearms are obeyed.

The Red Cross is the greatest human welfare agency in the world, according to Dr. Thomas E. Green, who was the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday. Because of the eminence of the speaker, who has long been the head of the speakers' bureau of the American Red Cross, the luncheon was opened to Red Cross members and the public generally. A large group of men and women embraced the opportunity to enjoy the splendid luncheon served by the Woman's Club committee, which is headed by Mrs. Lees, and to hear the program.

President Tasker Webster called on Chairman W. R. Humphries of the Red Cross chapter to introduce Dr. Green. The latter directed his remarks first to the service clubs, with Kiwanis an example. He said the spirit which they are developing locally, in intercommunity relations and internationally cannot help but create a better understanding which will tend to do away with wars under the horrors of which the Red Cross had its inception.

Dr. Green traced the history of the Red Cross very briefly thru the early stages of development down to the world war, prior to which it had been exclusively a wartime agency of relief. The Red Cross nurse had done enough in the world war, he said, to justify all the time and effort that had been put into Red Cross support. But that was only a part, and the organization had come out of the war activities without the taint of suspicion which had followed many other organizations when the final accounting was rendered.

Out of the war surplus of $30,000,000 a disaster relief fund of $5,000,000 was set aside, the income to be used solely for emergency work. Most of the balance has been expended in the relief of disabled soldiers.

Peace time service with which the public is most familiar since the world war has been the relief work following the great disasters such as Mississippi Valley, Miami, Tokyo and scores of lesser magnitude. But the figures quoted by Dr. Graham impressed his hearers anew with the vastness of the operations carried on.

Now the American Red Cross has extended its operations far beyond the bounds of this country,

Legion Will Stage Circus In Pasadena

Big Parade and Demonstration Planned for Monday Night

Uniformed drum corps of American Legion posts in all parts of Los Angeles County will gather in Pasadena, Monday night, June 4, for one of the greatest war veterans' street demonstrations yet witnessed in Southern California. The event will signal prominence to the Legion's combined circus, exposition and auto show, opening Saturday night, June 2, to continue seven nights, Sunday excepted.

The enterprise is strictly a Legion undertaking for the purpose of raising $58,000 to wipe out indebtedness and, according to the advance ticket sale, a total attendance of 100,000 will be registered. Posts of South Pasadena, Alhambra, Lamanda Park, Sierra Madre and Arcadia are cooperating Legion units.

Two gigantic canvas tops, equaling the world's greatest circus in size, stand on the Pasadena auditorium site to house the vast array of entertainment ranging from "midway" dancing girls to death-defying backward slides and aerial sensations.

More than 100 industrial exhibits will be beehives of activity, some of them extreme in novelty, and more than two dozen automobile companies will display the newest creations in motor cars. Circus acts of national fame will perform in a sawdust ring and headline vaudeville will be offered on a mammoth stage. Most of the ground space is covered with wooden floors.

A half-thousand Legionnaires will be engaged nightly in handling show details. Competition among 100 beautiful girls has resulted in the elimination of all but fifteen to enter a circus contest for the honor of being selected "Miss Pasadena." Gay colored tapestries are colorful decorations and a "daylight" illumination system has been installed, while a vacant city block lot will be reserved for public parking.

Coliseum to Be Scene of Great Meet

Olympic Tryouts Focus Attention On Athletes of the West

International attention is being focused on the Southwest Olympic finals to be held June 16 at the Los Angeles Coliseum, following definite announcement during the past week that the "race of the century" is definitely on. This will feature Charley Paddock, Charley Borah, Frank Lombardi, and Frank Wykoff in a 100-yard dash that may forecast the winner of the 100 meters run in the Olympic Games at Amsterdam.

Sporting fans of each of the 46 national competing in the Olympic Games, in addition to many other countries, will eagerly await news of the winner of this great footrace. The fame of Paddock is world wide and other nations want to know if there are any other California sprinters capable of defeating him.

Locally, interest in the Southwest Olympic finals has increased manifold. Ticket sales are moving forward more rapidly and everywhere sporting fans are discussing the coming classic. Mail order tickets at $1, $2 and $3 are being sent out from Olympic Games headquarters, 1116 W. Washington street, Los Angeles.

Paddock and Borah each have many strong adherents and the Wykoff-Lombardi duel is lining up as a race within a race, and there is almost as much interest in whether Wykoff can beat Lombardi as there is in whether Paddock can beat Borah.

Included on the monster program will be a complete Olympic schedule of track and field events, introduction of motion picture stars, a parade of nations, music by a 1000-piece high school band and boxing exhibitions by Jack Dempsey, Fidel LaBarba, Jackie Fields and Mosh Callahan.

POOLS PAY

EVERYBODY admits that Sierra Madre ought to have a public swimming pool. In the minds of some there is a fear that the city cannot afford it—that it is a luxury to be passed by until some other necessary things are provided.

At the outset, let's get rid of this idea that the municipal pool will compete with anything else. It has no bearing on schools, waer department requirements nor any other public enterprise. A swimming pool is an enterprise that will stand on its own "tub bottom."

Experience of other communities is available to show that a well planned public pool is a profit-paying establishment. Within the past five years practically every other city in the San Gabriel Valley has built a municipal pool. As a result, Sierra Madre boys and girls go to every other city in the valley for this wholesome recreation. And they spend their money there for pool charges, picnic outlays and other incidentals.

From time to time the News will present figures to show the experience of these other municipal pools. The facts are enough to convince any fair minded tax payer that he would not be assuming a burden by voting for a swimming pool.

 TREES AND TRAFFIC

REMOVAL of a row of pepper trees on Auburn Avenue to meet the requirements of business brings to mind a foolish attitude often taken toward street trees. Tree lovers are sometimes themselves the victims of short-sightedness in gratifying a worthy sentiment.

When Auburn Avenue was improved about twenty years ago those trees along both sides of the street in the block just above Central Avenue were still young and not large enough to have much value. The improvement called for paving, curb and gutters, and the sidewalks brought down to grade. Some of the tree lovers said they would protest the improvement if those trees were disturbed. So the trees were left high on their perch.

What happened? The sidewalks could not be brought to grade and for the intervening twenty years practically all the pedestrian traffic has been forced into the street. The trees were not much to start with, never have amounted to much and now they are to be removed.

Now the council has done what ought to have been done twenty years ago. Permission is given for removal of the trees on condition that when the sidewalk is brought to grade other suitable trees will be planted in their places. If that had been done when the street was improved there would now be a row of worth-while trees on both sides of the street.

Now that the matter is before us, why not remove the trees along the east side of the street, bring the sidewalk to grade and plant uniformly with the west side? Auburn Avenue is an important street from the standpoint of Pacific Electric passenger traffic. Forcing pedestrians into the street by existing sidewalk conditions is dangerous business.

WHY A CONSTITUTION?

CALIFORNIA legislative districts will remain as before for this year's election. The reapportionment bill adopted by the last legislature has been held up by referendum and the referendum has been declared valid by the state supreme court. Now it will be up to the voters to decide the merits of the bill.

California is now represented in congress by a delegation based on the 1910 census. Likewise Southern California is represented in the legislature on the same basis. With the tremendous growth in population since that date, both situations afford a fine example of taxation without representation.

Both the state legislature and the national congress are required by the state and national constitutions to readjust representation on the basis of the decennial census. Both have failed to follow the mandate. But what is the constitution between politicians?

 BY WAY OF INFORMATION

PROVING that foreign travel, in spite of its well-known broadening influence is apt to relieve the mind of some of its false notions, James Krouser, editor of the Oxnard Courier, gave some interesting instances of the educational results of his recent world tour. Speaking to the Oxnard Rotarians he claimed to have discovered the following interesting facts:

That Turkish baths are unknown in Turkey; that Irish stew is a myth in Ireland; that Java coffee comes from South Africa; that Egyptian cigarettes are made from Turkish tobacco; that Brussels carpets are not made in Brussels; that Spanish shawls are made in China; that Malacca canes come from Singapore; that chop suey is not eaten by the Chinese.

 HELP YOURSELF BY HELPING HIM

LAST week this column contained a breezy paragraph comparing the credibility of lawyers and newspapers. By some unpardonable lapse it was credited to the Arcadia Journal instead of to the Arcadia News. Just to show there is no prejudice involved, here is another of Editor Hicks's pointed paragraphs:

"Everybody in this city is 'in business' of some kind or another. Not only the man who runs the store or bank or newspaper, but also the man or woman who teaches, preaches, doctors, or otherwise labors in humap or industrial service. All who earn a living may be considered 'in business' to the extent that they depend on the other fellow. Therefore it is a mistake to think that the merchans alone are the authors of the 'trade at home' idea, or that they are the sole beneficiaries of the idea, when put into practice.

 WHY THE DIFFICULTY

(Glendora Gleaner)

THE fact that California, and especially Southern California, or Los Angeles, has grown so rapidly has caused a lot of jealousies among the middle western states and is one reason why it is so difficult to get action on the Boulder dam proposition. Many of the middle western states have stood still or lost population during the past ten years, while Southern California has grown amazingly. Congressmen, too, often influenced by the jealousies of the people, are slow to respond to the desire of this district to assist in its growth. It is a narrow view, but dominates a great number of the members of congress.

 WOULD HAVE BIG MARGIN

(Muscatine, Iowa, Journal)

THE "stop Hoover" movement of the corn belt committee, whatever that is, and of various "experts" has given rise to one of the most fallacious political yarns ever put out, namely, that Hoover couldn't carry Iowa against Al Smith. It is difficult to believe that such noise can be taken seriously. There is no doubt that Hoover, if nominated, will carry Iowa against Al Smith. Offhand, we should say his margin of victory would be 200,000, and it might be even more.

Reservations

By J. R. E.

The people of the United States are superlatively good natured. Just cogitate over the manner in which they stand for the horse play indulged in by the house and senate at every session of congress.

And the way the public in some communities (Los Angeles in particular) countenance the clownish antics of officials elected and hired to enforce the law perform their duties.

Maybe Los Angeles could be induced to swap Mr. Keyes for Big Bill Thompson.

Neither city would lose—much.

Henry Ford is said to have run a foot race recently. Hank ought to expend that kind of energy in his own plant—trying to find out what's the matter.

Judging from the way in which Ford is turning out flivers, in comparison with past performances, he has been reading up on efficiency in the Congressional Record.

The only proper place for the public to register is disgust with office holders who perpetually betray their trust is at the polls.

Some of us are somewhat taken aback because, after a three week's "column" campaign, Sierra Madre still has no junior high school.

However, there is comfort in the fact that Rome was built in not less than twenty-five hours.

Two good letters to "Reservations" last week have helped wonderfully in stimulating community interest in a junior high school. Particularly that part of the letter from Mrs. M. P. R., which reads as follows:

"Now the condition as I see it, from an educational standpoint, is aeons behind the progress of this little city along other lines. Why, I do not know, but I do know that the young people of this community are being robbed of their just heritage. They are orphans to community spirit, they have no school to center their loyalty and patriotism for their home town in; they have a very pretty place in which to eat and sleep, but THEIR SCHOOL IS THE CENTER OF ALL THEIR ACTIVITIES, all their young friendships, that are a joy through life, and the foundation of the building of character. . . ."

How true that is. A local resident returning from Pasadena a recent afternoon picked up a bunch of a dozen or fifteen boys, who were hiking home from the junior high school at Lamanda Park. They explained that they had stayed to see a baseball game, and so, of course, missed the bus.

They are not only being cheated of their community spirit, but they are penalized for developing school spirit by being made to walk four or five miles to their homes. Naturally, it takes a very special occasion to make even a small percentage of them miss the bus, and to the great majority school spirit is something to be thought of at the noon hour, and no more.

Sierra Madre needs school spirit. We want—or should want—our children to "root" for Sierra Madre, not for a community that in the natural course of events, should be a worthy opponent.

Competitive spirit will be a missing quality in Sierra Madre pupils from the sixth grade and on, because if they indulge in the class activities they will "miss the bus."

The conductor of this "kilm" was interested to learn, upon receiving the "old home paper" this week that the 44-piece band of Vermillion (S.D.) high school is attending the national high school band tournament at Joliet, Ills., this week. Vermillion is a beautiful little city of 3,500 population, located in the southeast corner of the state, and its high school students are outstanding in athletics, scholarship and music. It is an outstanding example of the fact that it is not the size of the school—it's the way in which it's conducted that counts.

No school — up to the seventh grade — in Southern California seems to be doing any better work than Sierra Madre schools—they are outstanding.

A case in point: Monrovia high school students have won first honors over other high schools, from Bakersfield to San Diego, in the last three Eisteddfod contests for high school musical organizations.

"Reservations" will welcome contributions, both for and against the proposition of a complete school system for Sierra Madre. No seriously-written com-

BOOKS AND BOOKBUYERS

Payment of $75,000 for the original manuscript of "Alice in Wonderland" need excite no surprise. That merely means somebody else will pay the famous Dr. Rosenbach considerably more for it. There are plenty of people of wealth willing to pay handsomely for the privilege of possessing something which is the only one of its kind. It is the culmination of the instinct which the small boy begins to exercise as a collector of bird's eggs or postage stamps.

Bob Carr tells me an amusing incident of a visit he paid to James Whitecomb Riley at his Indiana home a number of years ago. (I have no doubt it was a highly interesting meeting of the young "Cowboy Poet of the Black Hills" with the venerable Hoosier poet.) Riley was telling Carr with a good deal of glee about somebody paying $25 for a copy of one of his early volumes. It was too much honor for a mere living poet, and he added whimsically: "I wouldn't have thought anything about it if I had been dead."

STARTING AND STOPPING ON SCHEDULE

Training audiences to be late seems to be the aim of a lot of people who have to do with public events. Every speaker and entertainer has been annoyed by the disturbance caused by late arrivals. And most of us have probably looked around with a self-righteous glare because of the interference with our own enjoyment on the occasions where we happened to be on time. But the late comers we always have with us. Why?

Three good letters to "Reservations" last week have helped wonderfully in stimulating community interest in a junior high school. Particularly that part of the letter from Mrs. M. P. R., which reads as follows:

Tennyson Circle Gives Program—

One of the delightful affairs of the past week was the Victorian party given by the Tennyson Circle on Thursday evening, May 24, in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Queen Victoria.

The tea tables were artistically decorated with center pieces of American and British flags. Spring flowers also were used to carry out the color scheme of red, white and blue. Pictures of the beloved queen, medals and souvenirs of the Victorian period were brought by various members for exhibition.

Mrs. Eleanor Bourne, assisted by the Mmes. Roe, Jones, Sedgman and Wells, presided over the tea tables. Mr. George Ogg gave an interesting talk on the life of the queen and Miss Wallace sang very delightfully, "Danny Boy" and "The Swallows." Victrola records of the speeches of the king and queen of England on Empire Day and the Prince of Wales on "Sportsmanship" were also features of the program.

Over 30 members and friends from Sierra Madre and Monrovia were present to enjoy this memorable occasion. The next regular meeting of the Circle will be on Friday, June 1, at 8:30 P.M. in the home of Mrs. Tennyson.

Reason for Webster's Preference for Blue

Daniel Webster went to Dartmouth college in a homespun suit, of which probably every thread was carded, spun and woven by his mother's hands from the wool of their own sheep. It was a dyed-in-the-wool suit and the color was indigo blue.

In the South butternut was used, but though the Yankee dames knew all about the uses of butternut bark, and the slate color that lay in the sunbeam berries and bark of white maple, and were not unacquainted with the various dyes that could be made to yield the agency of vitriol and alum and copperas to "sel" them fast, the universal standby in New England was the dye pot, par excellence, that stood in the chimney corner of every kitchen in that region.

So Webster was fitted out in indigo blue from collar to ankle. Before reaching Hanover there came on a drenching rain. The suit held its own, but it parted with enough dye to tinge Daniel blue from head to foot.

Webster had a liberal stratum in his mental make-up, and for some reason the color of his youth remained his favorite wear through life. He wore blue coats to his dying day. If any one ever saw him in one of a different color the fact has not been made of record.

Cigarette Almost Did for Youthful Artist

How M. Ponishoff, the famous pianist, made his first appearance on the concert platform makes an amusing story.

Although he was then barely five years old he played beautifully and was billed to give a joint recital with an adult violinist.

The latter went on the platform first and played a solo. Meanwhile Ponishoff, left alone in the artist's room, discovered that his colleague had left a half-smoked cigarette on the mantelpiece. The temptation was too great, and he smoked it.

He managed, in a sort of stupor, to get through a Beethoven sonata, but at the very last chord he fell asleep, and had to be carried off the platform, put into a carriage and driven home.

A Man's Home.

How many things concur to keep a man at home, to prevent his yielding to his inclination to wander? If I would extend my walk a hundred miles I must carry a tent on my back for shelter at night or in the rain, or at least I must carry a thick coat to be prepared for a change in the weather. So that it requires some resolution, as well as energy and foresight to undertake the simplest journey. Man does not travel as easily as the birds migrate. He is not everywhere at home, like flies. When I think how many things I can conveniently carry I am wont to think it most convenient to stay at home. My home, then, to a certain extent, is the place where I keep my thick coat and my tent and some books which I cannot carry.—Thoreau.

Every Boy Needs a Dog

Every boy should grow up with a dog, for the association thereby will make of the boy a fairer, kinder, truer man, some day, when he becomes a man. He will learn to love fairness, justice and mercy, just as he will come to hate meanness, cruelty and cowardice, through daily contact with his big-eyed, shaggy-coated, understanding friend. If the boy unhappily is vicious, temperate, or destructive he will find in his voiceless associate a wordless rebuke for the sins of his commission. It is the inevitable way of a dog with a boy, and the dog knows, moreover, because through him the infinite forces of the universe are functioning as freely as the wind through winter trees.—David Arnold Bach in the New Age Illustrated.

Brick Proves Durability

A chimney of brick 175 feet in height stands like a sentinel over the abandoned mining town of Belmont, near Tonopah, Nev. This chimney, erected in the boom days of the town, showed the spirit of the men who sought better living conditions in these communities that sprang up overnight. Brick was hauled from Sacramento, a distance of more than 500 miles, by means of ox teams. Withstanding the attacks of weather for 55 years, this chimney is in as good condition now as it was when erected by the gold-mad first inhabitants of the town. It gives mute testimony to the durability of common brick.

Didn't Know Him

Margie, aged five, was surprised when, after her mother read her a story from a humor column, she told the little girl the story was about herself. The story told briefly of Margie's interest in birthdays and how on February 22, when her older brother told her that it was George Washington's birthday, Margie had asked excitedly: "What did he get?" When her mother insisted that she was the little girl that made the remark, Margie said, disgustedly, "Why, mother, I didn't say that. I don't even know George Washington!"—Indianapolis News.

Crack Shot

A man brought home three turkey keys from a shooting match. His neighbor, a four-year-old, was congratulating him on his success. The father told his neighbor he was a crack shot. The turkeys were being discussed at dinner and the four-year-old informed the family that "he shot 'em with firecrackers and never burnt 'em one tiny bit."

Grateful to Friend for Deserved Rebuke

James Stillman, who for several years was one of the Titans of Wall street, sat in his office one day talking with a business man who had called, when it developed that some error had been made in Stillman's bank. An official was summoned and Stillman, without moving or raising his quiet voice, berated the offender in terms so harsh, with an irony so coldly insulting, and concluded in such a savage intensity of speech, that the unfortunate man trembled and beads of perspiration stood out upon his forehead. When the culprit had been dismissed, the horrified visitor spoke:

"Stillman, I never in all my life heard anything so outrageous! That man holds an important position in your bank and you have insulted him before a stranger. Why—I shouldn't be surprised if he put a knife into you! A man has no right to treat another so, nor to let him go like that. The most charitable thing I can think is that you are on the verge of a nervous breakdown and that you have no business to be in your office!"

Stillman heard this outburst in a white silence, his powerful face a very mask of rage. The visitor waited a few moments, then picked up his hat and went out.

Sometime later the visitor received a card inviting him to a function at the Stillman home. He and his wife attended and received a gracious welcome. To the wife Stillman said:

"Tell your husband from me—won't you?—that owing to something he said to me, I am just back from the best holiday I ever had."—Anna Robeson Burr, in World's Work.

Odd Power of South American Vampire Bat

In his story of his explorations in South America, Dr. William McGovern has something to tell us about the dreaded vampire bat.

He managed, in a sort of stupor, to get through a Beethoven sonata, but at the very last chord he fell asleep, and had to be carried off the platform, put into a carriage and driven home.

Types of Women

There are four types of women, Charlie. There are the unfortunates, who have been granted no attractions, physical or otherwise. They have heaps of friends of their own sex and kind, they live in women's clubs or institutions, and find an outlet for their emotions in religion and the love affairs of other people. Then there is the latest model, the aggressive variety, elbowing men out of the way; there is something rather attractive about them, but I know it too well. Then your feline women, the mischief makers, often most attractive. Then the bovine variety, which makes for peace in the home and a comfortable sluggishness in the heart of man. Worthy women.—Lesley Storrs in "Lady, What of Life?"

"Small and Select"

Chess, it has been observed, is played by fewer people and in more countries than is any other game. Although this—perhaps the oldest of games—appeals to individuals in nearly every race under the sun, yet the number of its devotees is comparatively small. A small but select company of adherents would doubtless add:

One can, of course, play "at" chess without much effort; but to be a really first-rate player calls for infinite patient application. Great Britain is always thought of as a chess-playing nation; yet, according to recent calculation, only about one in every thousand Britshers is a chess player.

Remove Wet Garments

All of us at some time or other get caught in a rainstorm, fall into water, get our feet wet in rainy weather, etc. These occasional "soakings" are harmless, if the right thing is done afterward. Dr. R. S. Copeland says getting wet does no more harm than taking a bath, if you do not stay in the wet garments. This, he points out, is particularly true of wet shoes. His advice is: Don't stay in wet garments. Get out of them into dry clothing. If you feel chilled after exposure, it is important to restore the circulation. The best way to do that is to take a good hot bath and go to bed.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Tough on Zeke

"Zeke," said the judge to an old offender, who had been convicted of stealing a hog, "you are fined $10."

"Judge," said Zeke, "I'm much obliged to you. I've got dat tan-spot right here in man left-hand vest pocket."

"Is that so?" continued the judge. "Just dig down in your right-hand vest pocket and see if you can find thirty days."

DESSERTS FOR CHILDREN

The first desserts of a child's dietary should consist of cooked and sieved fruit pulp. One to two table-spoonfuls of cooked apple, prune, pear or banana may be given the child of two years. Later the cereal puddings, junket and custards may be added. Cereal, milk and eggs have been a part of the child's diet before they are used in the form of desserts. As puddings they add variety to the meal and give an opportunity of using part of the quart of milk a day.

Gelatin desserts are attractive and wholesome for the school child. Gelatin is a protein food, but not as valuable as milk and eggs. When the latter are added in "snow pudding with custard sauce" a nutritious dish is supplied. Gelatin is also a good carrier of both dried and fresh fruits in desserts. The frozen dishes always appeal to the child, but care must be taken in the selection of wholesomely made fruit ices and ice creams. They should not be too sweet or too rich when served to children. The milk and egg custard and ice cream is an excellent dessert. Good home-made frozen products are usually the best and safest for children.

A child should be so trained from early infancy that he will be familiar only with desserts suitable for children and will therefore never cry for pie, rich cakes and plum puddings which sometimes are served adult members of the family. Plain, yet palatable sponge cakes, crisp molasses and oatmeal cookies are sufficient for the child. Occasionally a stick of good sugar candy may be given for dessert.

Wise meal planning will not indulge a child in any excessively sweet desserts. A normal child who has always eaten wholesome bats are not believed to possess any salvia which could act as a local anesthetic; and yet it is a fact that they can insert their long teeth and suck out the blood of their victims without awakening them. Not a single case is known in which a sleeper has awakened while the vampires were at their work. It is also very curious that the bats never attack a person who is awake, however silent and motionless he may be.

He writes interestingly of the Amazonian medicine men.

The Indian medicine men are no doubt charlatans in many respects, but many of them are certainly possessed of really remarkable powers. They appear to know a great deal more than most Europeans about massage, and they are unquestionably acquainted with the nature and use of many strange herbs, drugs and poisons. It is also highly probable that these men are more than superficially acquainted with the principles of hypnotism.
